“ Ira, I am learning to find peace with your choice of exiting this world. I must say you were well loved, appreciated and will be greatly missed. We were talking recently in our sibling chat about how you were an easy child to baby sit. You were no trouble. You would be walking around following me in the house and having serious conversations.

Ira, I love you and will miss you especially your infamous laughter. I cannot hold back the tears but that's a language God understands especially at this time.
